CHOCOLATE

HISTORY & ORIGIN

Llamas are very social animals and live with others as a herd. Their wool is very soft and lanolin-free. Llamas can learn simple tasks after a few repetitions. When using a pack, they can carry about 25 to 30% of their body weight for 8 to 13 km. The name llama (in the past also spelled “lama” or “glama”) was adopted by European settlers from native Peruvians.

Llamas appear to have originated from the central plains of North America about 40 million years ago. They migrated to South America about three million years ago during the Great American Interchange.

JCH3019.5

BEHAVIOR

Llamas that are well-socialized and trained to halter and lead after weaning are very friendly and pleasant to be around. They are extremely curious and most will approach people easily. However, llamas that are bottle-fed or over-socialized and over-handled as youth will become extremely difficult to handle when mature, when they will begin to treat humans as they treat each other, which is characterized by bouts of spitting, kicking and neck wrestling. So be smart and buy a chocolate llama.

ROYAL CHOCOLATE FIGURINES

NAME	Filip & Mathilde
TYPE	Dark Milk coloured
SIZE(LXDXH)	10 x 5,5 x 4,5 cm
PACKAGING	Bulk

DESCRIPTION

Filip is King of the Belgians. He is the eldest child of King Albert II and Queen Paola. He succeeded his father upon the latter's abdication for health reasons on 21 July 2013. He married Jonkvrouw Mathilde d'Udekem d'Acoz in 1999, with whom he has four children. Their eldest child, Princess Elisabeth, is first in the line of succession. The Belgian chocolate history goes back to 1635 in Ghent. Chocolate making was then mostly used by pharmacists who sold it as a tonic. In 1840, a Belgian chocolate maker sold the first pressed chocolate tablets and figurines. It was around this time that several of the large Belgian companies were founded such as Neuhaus (1857), Côte d'Or (1883) and Jacques.

DESCRIPTION

The unicorn is a legendary creature that has been described since antiquity as a beast with a single large, pointed, spiraling horn projecting from its forehead. The unicorn was depicted in ancient seals of the Indus Valley Civilization and was mentioned by the ancient Greeks in accounts of natural history by various writers, including Ctesias, Strabo, Pliny the Younger, Aelian and Cosmas Indicopleustes. The Bible also describes an animal, the re'em, which some versions translate as unicorn. We at De Chokolaterie have a chocolate version of the unicorn called "Stien".

CHOCOLATE (CUP)CAKE

NAME Birthday Cake

TYPE Handmade Dark Milk coloured

SIZE 16 x 9 cm

PACKAGING Mica box

DESCRIPTION

Birthday cakes have been a part of birthday celebrations in Western European countries since the middle of the 19th century. However, the link between cakes and birthday celebrations may date back to ancient Roman times. In classical Roman culture, 'cakes' were occasionally served at special birthdays and at weddings. These were flat circles made from flour and nuts, leavened with yeast, and sweetened with honey.

However, Smet Chocolatie is pleased to present a delicious hollow chocolate birthday cake topped with a real candle.

In many cultures the person whose birthday is being celebrated is invited to make a wish, and blow out candles.

DESCRIPTION

Early modern Europeans wore purses for one sole purpose: to carry coins. Purses were made of soft fabric or leather and were worn by men as often as ladies; the Scottish sporran is a survival of this custom. In the 17th century, young girls were taught embroidery as a necessary skill for marriage; this also helped them make very beautiful handbags.

By the late 18th century, fashion in Europe was moving towards a slender shape for these accessories, inspired by the silhouettes of Ancient Greece and Rome. Women wanted purses that would not be bulky or untidy in appearance, so reticules were designed. What do you think about these chocolate purses?

DESCRIPTION

Founded in 1908, an American shoe company that designs, distributes, and licenses sneakers, skating shoes, lifestyle brand footwear, apparel, and accessories. During World War II, this company shifted its manufacturing to make footwear for the military. It was one of the few producers of athletic shoes and for over a half century the company dominated the American athletic shoe market. From the 1970s, the company lost its dominant position as competitors presented their own styles. The shoes are distinguished by a number of features, including the company's star insignia, the rubber sole, smooth rounded toe, and wrap-around strip. As of 2019, the company sold through 109 company-owned retail stores in the United States and 63 stores in international markets.
